

Jennifer Raiser reports from San Francisco: Earlier this month, Graff San Francisco hosted a reception in appreciation of the patrons of The San Francisco Fall Antiques Show, which opens today, October 24th. Just past the door, patrons were greeted by the guests of honor, show Co-Chairs Michelle Goss, understatedly elegant in red and white polka dots, and Adrianna Pope Sullivan, in of-the-moment cobalt blue satin. Sullivan's dress was set off by her ransom of family sapphires.

Phoebe Cowles' green eyes amplified her emerald earrings; Elizabeth Thieriot's symphony of sapphires shone; Toni Wolfson topped out with turquoise. Others opted for the obverse; "I'm not even going to try to wear the real thing in this room," quipped one of the fashionable females. "The jewels that look normal outside these walls suddenly shrink when they come in here." Fortunately, the glittering focus was shared with the Antiques Show beneficiary, Enterprise for High School Students. Executive Director Tony de Stefano explained the 43-year-old organization's mission of job readiness training and real-world experience.

Amy Millman, Rachel Sitz, Rosa Korhonen, and Nicole Grinsell

As the canapés and champenoise flowed, Enterprise Board members Mary Lou Castellanos and designer Jay Jeffers reiterated the immense popularity of the Fall Antiques Show. "Absolutely everyone is there," enthused Jenna Hunt. "In this town, you wouldn't dare to miss it!" In honor of impending America's Cup races in San Francisco Bay, this year's show theme is "Sea Worthy: The Best of Nautical Art and Antiques."

Antiques Show Director Lisa Podos agreed the races would, in theory, be fun to watch from the Antiques Show venue at Festival Pavilion, but “there is more than enough to see inside!” As a final cast-off, guests were each gifted a canvas boat bag elegantly embroidered in silver. With an unbeatable combination of cause, carats, and cocktails, this party was very easy to get on board.

Elisabeth Thieriot and Nune Worraniuji

Some others on deck: Darren Bechtel and Samantha Duvall, Jennifer Biederbeck, Christina de Limur, Brenda Mickel, Claudia Ross, Clara Shayevich, Emily and Ned Taylor. Paul Pelosi made a point to stop by on his way to a dinner; Barbara Brown did the same. Richard Goss and Bobby Sullivan, ever the swell escorts, stayed for the duration, as did Johnny and Malia Moseley, Amy S. Millman, Ken Paige, Nune Worraniuji, Claudia Juestel, Antonio Martins, KC and Holland Lynch, Damion Matthews and Joel Goodrich, Antonia and Michael Cohen, Victoria Richardson, Michael Wais, Christine Suppes, Kendall Wilkinson, Shirley Robinson, Candace Barnes, Peter Callander, Michael Purdy, and more.

Antonia Cohen, Michael Cohen, and Victoria Richardson

Victoria Richardson and Leigh Wasson

Michele Goss and Paul Pelosi

Lisa Podos

Karen Caldwell

Paul Pelosi, Christina de Limur, and Adrianna Pope Sullivan

Jonny Moseley